Purpose

World Class, Locally Sourced!

MISSION – NMPAS is the leading nonprofit performing arts organization in New Mexico that exclusively uses and develops New Mexican talent. We bring high quality performances to communities throughout the state, we train talented young people to become even better performers, and we do so with a sustainable model that both pays our artists a living wage and keeps our overhead costs low.

VISION – NMPAS seeks to build on its history of high quality performances by New Mexican artists. We envision an even stronger nonprofit organization with a renewed emphasis on developing and showcasing exceptional New Mexican talent, on broadening our reach throughout the state, and on developing a succession plan for the organization's leadership. NMPAS has been and will continue to be a careful steward of its resources, both artistic and financial. We welcome philanthropic investment to help us bring more beauty, joy, and exceptional performances to our community.

COLLABORATION – NMPAS has participated in 65 collaborations over 12 seasons. These include BWV, Chatter, El Rancho de las Golondrinas, Los Alamos Opera Guild of the Santa Fe Opera, New Mexico Highlands University, Santa Fe Area Homebuilders Association, True Kids 1, UNM Robb Trust, Vocal Artistry Art Song Festival, Young Voices of the Santa Fe Opera, and many others.

STATEWIDE IMPACT – NMPAS brings programs to cities, towns and rural areas where live performances of classical music are less available. In addition to concerts in Santa Fe and Albuquerque, NMPAS rehearses and performs in Carrizozo, Los Alamos, Las Cruces, Las Vegas, Placitas, Silver City, Socorro and Taos. Tickets are modestly priced and volunteer opportunities make our events accessible to all.
